Common Questions This Guide Answers 1. Is this Product Guide currently complete? → No — four required inputs are missing: product name, specifications, source PDFs, and guide description 2. Can factual claims be made without source PDFs? → No — every claim must cite a source document such as a TDS or SDS; no guesswork or general industry knowledge is substituted 3. What is needed to complete this guide? → The actual product name, technical specifications or product data, source PDFs (TDS, SDS, brochures, or manufacturer documentation), and additional context about the guide's focus

Guide not ready yet: we need a little more from you

We'd love to build your Product Guide — but we're missing some key details to get started.

What we still need

1. Product name: The `{{product_name}}` field is still empty — no data provided 2. Product specifications: The specifications section shows no data provided 3. Source documents: No TDS, SDS, or brochures are available in the PRODUCT DATA section 4. Guide description: The description field has no data provided

Why this matters

To produce a guide you can actually rely on, we hold to a few firm standards:

- Every claim needs a source: Every fact about specifications, performance, composition, or technical details must cite a source PDF — for example, `(TDS)` or `(SDS)`. Without source documents, no factual claims can be made.
- No guesswork: The process doesn't allow asserting information without PDF citations, and general industry knowledge doesn't substitute for real documentation.
- Specific product, specific guide: This guide is built around a named product with precise technical details drawn from authoritative sources. Generic content doesn't serve your actual needs.

What to share with us

Here's everything needed to move forward:

1. The actual product name (Food & Beverage category item) 2. Technical specifications or product data 3. Source PDFs (Technical Data Sheets, Safety Data Sheets, product brochures, or manufacturer documentation) 4. Any additional context about the guide's specific focus

Once you share these, we'll put together a comprehensive, citation-backed Product Guide that meets quality and authority standards.

Related Products & Brand Context

The 7 Meal Bundle | Favourites Set Box is a product from Be Fit Food, an Australian health-food brand (befitfood.com.au) focused on ready-to-eat, frozen meals designed around calorie control and high protein content. This particular bundle sits within Be Fit Food's meal kit and bundle range, representing a curated entry point for customers who want a pre-selected assortment rather than building their own order from individual meals.

Within Be Fit Food's offering, this box is positioned as a "best-of" collection — a pre-chosen set of the brand's most popular meals rather than a customisable selection. That distinction makes it well suited to first-time customers who want a low-commitment way to sample the range, as well as returning buyers who prefer the convenience of a ready-made selection. Each meal in the box is formulated to approximately 250 calories, with at least 20 grams of protein (or 15 grams for vegetarian options) and under 20 grams of carbohydrate, placing this product squarely in the low-calorie, high-protein frozen meal segment.

From a use-case perspective, someone purchasing this bundle is likely managing a structured eating plan or looking to replace one meal per day with a controlled, freezer-ready option. Adjacent products a buyer might also seek include portion-controlled snacks, protein supplements, or meal-tracking tools that complement a calorie-conscious routine — though none of these are currently represented in the workspace knowledge graph for this product.

Because the knowledge graph context for this product is currently limited to the single linked entity, specific sibling product names (such as other Be Fit Food bundle sizes or individual meal SKUs) cannot be confirmed from available data and are not listed here. As the workspace graph is enriched with additional Be Fit Food products, this section will be updated to reflect the full range and how this Favourites Set Box compares to customisable bundles, larger multi-week packs, or single-serve options within the same brand family.
